ASSOCIATE of the MONTH

Sprint Together with Nextel provides a variety of services that can benefit your business. They offer a wide variety of devices to help your company be productive all the time. These devices range from basic cell phones to direct connect phones (aka walkie talkie) to smart phones like Treos, Blackberry's and Pocket PCs where you can get your company's email in real time. Use their camera phones to transmit images from a crew member to a Master Plumber for scoping projects etc. Save photos with work tickets. Safeguard your assets with a device that is about the size of a pack of cigarettes with a battery life that lasts weeks. We also provide fast wireless cards for your mobil laptop users so they can be productive whenever they are away from the office by having wireless access to the Internet anywhere on their Sprint nationwide network without worrying about finding a hotspot. Don't forget about advanced wireless solutions like GPS. You can also do time-tracking on our devices to simplify your payroll processes and lower overtime costs. Their focus is to help you improve productivity, improve efficiencies/manage costs and increase revenues. A brief overview will be presented at the January luncheon with a $25 AMEX drawing for those who fill out and return their wireless interest forms. Call Mary Rankin—Sprint Account Manager at 214-995-7740 for any interests and to see how they can help you!!!!

State Talk from Nancy

JANUARY 2008

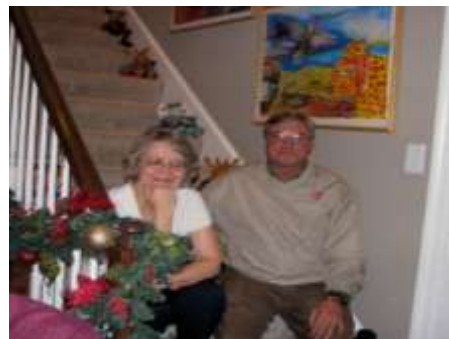

License Law Update:

Here is a summary of the new plumbing rule – Rule 367.3 (which gives a Responsible Master Plumber (or his/her company) an option to contract with a licensed plumber to install or supervise the plumbing work secured by the Responsible Master Plumber. Of course, the Responsible Master Plumber still has the option to employ the license plumber, as always. The additional new language in the rule clarifies what was already required and prohibited:

- Only a Responsible Master Plumber (RMP) may offer to perform (advertise) or contract plumbing work to the public.
 - Plumber's Apprentices, Tradesmen and Journeymen may not offer to perform or contract with the public. The RMP is still responsible for all work that is performed under his license, whether or not the work was performed by an employee or a licensed plumber he has contracted with.
 - RMP must still be knowledgeable of all work performed under his/her license.
 - All trucks must be marked with RMP license number and company name.
 - The supervision requirements remain unchanged. Plumber's Apprentices, Tradesmen and Journeymen must still work under the general supervision of the RMP, regardless of employment or contract arrangement with the licensed plumber.
 - RMP is still responsible to make sure that the jobs are properly supervised by licensed plumbers, whether or not the license plumber is an employee or under contract with the RMP.
 - RMP is still responsible for obtaining required permits.
 - RMP still must have insurance and a certificate on file with the Board.
 - It still takes an RMP with a Master med gas endorsement to offer to perform or perform med gas work.
- Med gas piping must still be assembled, brazed and marked only by med gas endorsement holders.

For the entire Law and Rules, go to www.tsbpe.state.tx.us.
